

WHITE SOUND GONG TRAINING

The gong is considered to be one of the most powerful instruments for healing in a state of trance. Mindfulness, meditation and experiences of expanded consciousness are created by simply surrendering to the sound.

The gong is not just used in specially organised yoga classes, at festivals, in meditation concerts and as part of therapy. It is of great importance in these times: it reveals truth, allows us to feel connectedness and supports healing transformation.

Leading a gong meditation requires deep, subtle knowledge and energetic experience. It takes a year to learn this art, then a lifetime to master it.

Ada Devinderjit has been conducting gong meditations since 2006 and teaching the art in Nanak Dev Singh's heritage since 2016.
